Difference between Village Life and City Life

by Smriti Chand

It has been heard for ages that the lifestyle varies between a city and village. Definitely there is a great difference in the lifestyle among people living in villages and cities. Neither of them is above one another, but definitely has their own advantages and disadvantages.

It is considered that life in a city is almost equal to heaven and is wonderful and enjoyable. The reason behind such kind of thinking or feeling is only because, cities get expanded and more opportunities are made available for the people flooding in. New ventures, experiments and socializing happen in cities. A

B  The life led in a city is more enjoyable with the kind of amenities made available there.

However things are different in villages. C  They are more considerate and know each other in the village.

For any need or help you could definitely rely on your neighbors at any hour of the day. They are more friendly and more onto the traditional kind of practices and believes and are not gadget or tech savvy people. For them, the daily need to be met is itself taken as an enjoyment and all their works are dived and shared and helped by each other.

When coming to the kind of food habits that people of both these places follow; people living in cities are more vulnerable to many diseases because of their sedentary lifestyle and fast food intake. With inappropriate exercising and large intake of fast food, the fast moving crowd compromises on their health which would have to be heavily paid off later in life. However, in villages, people stick to the old homemade food habits and since transportation is still to be up to the mark, a lot of exercising happens and this helps them to remain fit and healthy in the long run.

Coming to the health of people in regard with pollution. D

E  People are more systematic and scheduled and get their work done by themselves rather than calling up or outsourcing the day to day household chores.

For more expansion and growth, one has definitely be at the cities as they have more opportunities that would help one grow professionally. However, to understand the moral values and culture of a state or a place, you definitely need to spent some part of your life in a village and also to enjoy and understand the beauty of nature in all its true colors and aspects. City life is mostly preferred by the youth and youngsters who love to be trendy, energetic and open to changes, while village life is opted by the elderly group who wish to have a peaceful life.
